Biography

United States Air Force

Secretary of the Air Force, Office of Public Affairs, Washington, D.C. 20330

GENERAL JEROME F. O'MALLEY

General Jerome F. O'Malley is commander of Tactical Air Command, with headquarters at Langley Air Force Base, Va. His command comprises more than 113,000 military and civilian personnel, stationed at 18 major Tactical Air Command installations and other units in the United States, Panama, Okinawa and Iceland. Tactical Air Command is the gaining organization for 64,000 Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve personnel throughout the United States.

General O'Malley was born Feb. 25, 1932, in Carbondale, Pa., and graduated from St. Rose Parochial School in 1949. He graduated from the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, N.Y., in 1953 with a bachelor of science degree in military science and a commission as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force. General O'Malley completed the Air Command and Staff College at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., and concurrently earned a master's degree in business administration from The George Washington University, Washington, D.C., in 1965, and graduated from the Naval War College, Newport, R.I., in 1970.

After receiving his pilot wings in August 1954 at Bryan Air Force Base, Texas, General O'Malley received jet training in F-86 Sabrejets at Perrin Air Force Base, Texas.

In January 1955 he was assigned as an air training officer at the U.S. Air Force Academy, then located at Lowry Air Force Base, Colo. He attended B-47 transition training at McConnell Air Force Base, Kan., from December 1957 to February 1958, and was then assigned as a B-47 pilot with the 529th Bombardment Squadron at Plattsburgh Air Force Base, N.Y. From June 1960 to August 1964, General O'Malley served as an aide to General Hunter Harris, who was 8th Air Force commander at Westover Air Force Base, Mass., and then vice commander in chief, Strategic Air Command, Offutt Air Force Base, Neb.

Following graduation with distinction from the Air Command and Staff College in June 1965, General O'Malley served as a pilot with the 9th Strategic Reconnaissance Wing, Beale Air Force Base, Calif. While there he flew the first operational mission of the SR-71, the free world's most advanced strategic reconnaissance aircraft. In July 1969 he entered the Naval War College.

From July 1970 to April 1971, he was director of operations for the 67th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing, Mountain Home Air Force Base, Idaho, and flew RF-4C's. General O'Malley then left for Southeast Asia and served as vice commander and later commander of the 460th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing at Tan Son Nhut Air Base, Republic of Vietnam. In September 1971 he was assigned as vice commander of the 432nd Tactical Reconnaissance Wing, Udorn Royal Thai Air Force Base, Thailand. He flew 116 combat missions in F-4D's and RF-4C's.

(Current as of January 1985)
